Company overview

The history of the GTS Group has its roots in 1977, when the Muciaccia family courageously faced the entrepreneurial challenge of creating a transport business. Since the beginning close attention has been paid to the broader audience of customers while trying to provide the best transportation service based on intermodal road + rail. The departure of the first national train from Bari to Naples dates back to 1992, and in 2007 the first international train to Manchester.

The company's mission has always been to pinpoint and provide the best solutions to its customers for intermodal transport based on the "green" concept, through the use of a business model stipulated on high technological standards whilst respecting the environment. The GTS Group has always been committed to the development of transport systems which are both environmentally and socially acceptable. The relentless pursuit of virtuous processes which are able to transform the negative externalities of road transport into efficiency and value in rail transport has always been at the forefront.

Since those years GTS has witnessed a major growth trend that today boasts 8 electric locomotives, over 2,500 swap bodies / containers, 130 employees and annual revenue of 70 million euros.
